Quarterly Population Highlights

A release from the Province of British Columbia's central statistical agency

REFERENCE DATE: OCTOBER 1, 2015 | ISSUE #15-03

B.C. HIGHLIGHTS:

The population of B.C. was estimated at 4,703,939 as of October 1, 2015, growing by 20,800 persons in the third quarter of 2015 (an increase of 0.44% from July 1, 2015). Combined net migration from all sources (interprovincial and international) produced a net gain of 17,416 during the third quarter of 2015. Net interprovincial in-migration totalled 6,315 persons. The third quarter of 2015 also saw a net gain due to net international migration (+11,101), in large part due to the number of immigrants (+10,651). Finally, a natural increase (births minus deaths) of 3,384 positively impacted population growth in the third quarter.

B.C. population October 1, 2015		4,703,939

THE LAST TWELVE MONTHS:

B.C.'s total population increase over the twelve months ending September 30, 2015 was 39,717 persons (+0.85%), largely due to international and interprovincial migration. On an annual basis, immigrants (+34,163) were the main providers of population growth for the province. Interprovincial migration accounted for a net gain of 15,096 persons from October 1, 2014 to September 30, 2015. Consequently, about three in every four persons gained since October 1, 2014 (+30,326) could be attributed to net migration from all sources. The remainder was due to natural increase (+9,391).

NATIONAL OVERVIEW:

The population of Canada grew by 133,977 persons (+0.37%) to 35,985,751 during the third quarter of 2015. Leading the growth at the provincial and territorial level were Alberta (+0.49%), Saskatchewan (+0.46%) and British Columbia (+0.44%). Ontario (+0.42%), Manitoba (+0.40%), Northwest Territories (+0.37%) and Nunavut (+0.29%) also saw population increases. Yukon was the only jurisdiction with a population decline (-0.37%).

THIRD QUARTER INTERNATIONAL MIGRATION:

Net international in-migration to British Columbia (immigrants plus the net change in non-permanent residents plus returning emigrants less emigrants and persons temporarily abroad) registered a net gain in the third quarter, totalling 11,101. This is a decrease of 40% from the same quarter of 2014 when a net gain of 18,492 was reported. While the total number of immigrants arriving in British Columbia from July 1 to September 30 (+10,651) was higher than the same three months in 2014 (+7,989), the relatively smaller net gain in non-permanent residents in the third quarter (+3,650) compares with an unusually large net gain (+13,703) for the same quarter in 2014. This reduced gain in non-permanent residents was the main reason for the drop in net international in-migration when compared to the same quarter in the previous year. As for persons leaving B.C. for international destinations, an estimated 3,682 left on a permanent basis and 1,670 were away temporarily in the third quarter of 2015, relatively unchanged from the same period in 2014.

THIRD QUARTER INTERPROVINCIAL MIGRATION:

Of the three provinces and territories that reported a net gain in population from other Canadian jurisdictions in the third quarter of 2015, British Columbia showed the highest net gain. In B.C. an inflow of 18,821 persons was offset by an outflow of 12,506 for a net population gain of 6,315. British Columbia's net exchange with Alberta was positive, with an estimated 2,316 more persons leaving Alberta for B.C. than those going to Alberta from British Columbia. In addition, B.C. reported substantial positive net in-migration from Ontario (+1,516) as well as positive gains from all other jurisdictions. Alberta was the second biggest net recipient in the third quarter of 2015 with a net gain of 1,234 interprovincial migrants. Ontario was the only other jurisdictions to post a net gain.

DID YOU KNOW?

Canada has been receiving approximately 26,000 refugee immigrants annually over the past decade (2005-2014). Of those, approximately 7% settled initially in British Columbia.
